In Northern Delaware, there are the famous Brandywine Valley museums, hailed by experts as the finest of their kinds in the country. You will find magnificent collections of shells, birds and animals, decorative arts and furnishings; reminders of our industrial past brought back to life: the legacy of illustrator N. C. Wyeth, carried on by his sons, Andrew, and grandson Jamie. There are works of Howard Pyle, founder of the Brandywine School of Art, and other famous American and European artists.

Put Yourself in the First Place

DELAWARE

the First State

Southern Delaware is the sun worshiper's paradise. Our beaches are among the finest anywhere and draw millions each year. Enjoy the uncluttered quiet of Lewes, Delaware's oldest community, founded by the Dutch in 1631. The bay beach, the historic houses, museums and a lightship offer fascinating fun for everyone.
