

APPENDIX B:
QUALIFICATIONS OF RESEARCHERS

Scott A. Emory
Maritime Archaeologist/Principal Investigator

Mr. Emory has the experience and training to work on prehistoric and historic archaeological sites, as well as underwater archaeological sites. He has directed and supervised Phase I, II, and III site studies and conducted archaeological excavations throughout New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and Maryland, and Bermuda. Mr. Emory has directed bridge replacement projects, shipyard documentation and investigation, highway planning, construction, and expansion, shipwreck investigations, and wetland mitigation. He is fully experienced with underwater archaeological documentation procedures and is certified by the American Academy of Underwater Sciences. While trained as an underwater archaeologist, Mr. Emory is also experienced with historic ceramic analysis.

Education

- 2000 M.A., Maritime History and Nautical Archaeology, East Carolina University
- 1991 B.A., Anthropology, University of Delaware